MARRIAGE RECORDS.

LIST NO. 6.

The JOURNAL of November 7th and December 5th, 1889, January 9th and 30th, and April 24th, 1890, published lists of the marriage records of the deaf, concerning which I had received satisfactory records. Since then I have received satisfactory records of the following additional marriages.

I have a great many other marriage records besides the following, and those already published in the JOURNAL, but they are not satisfactory, because they are not complete. I wish complete records, giving full details concerning the parents, children, brothers and sisters, residence, occupation, etc., of all the deaf married persons in the United States and Canada, both living and dead, and concerning the hearing husbands and wives of all deaf persons. The statistics I have already received are far more extensive and complete than any that have been collected upon this subject before, but I want to make them still more so, and in this I ask the help of all the intelligent readers of the JOURNAL.

Please examine carefully the lists already published and the following list. If you know any married deaf persons residing in your neighborhood whose names do not appear in any of the lists, write to me for as many blank marriage records as you may require, fill them out accurately and completely, and return them to me. It will cost you nothing for postage, except for your first letter or postal cards. Address: EDWARD ALLEN FAY, National Deaf-Mute College, Kendall Green, Washington, D. C.

Western Ontario.

As already stated in the JOURNAL, Mr. Alex. McLaren left Charing Cross, near Chatham, the reason being that the climate of that district was disagreeable to his health, and made him a subject to some kind of bowel complaint. He came to Avonton, where he stopped with his old-time chum, Bob Hoy, for three or four weeks, during which time he made great progress in his health, this fact showing this neighborhood is the healthiest place in Ontario, being at the foot of the mortality returns of the Dominion. On October 12th, Alexander left Avonton, and drove to Stratford to take the afternoon train for Toronto, but he arrived at the depot too late, as the train had steamed out on its way, and he had to remain in the city over the night. The next day he proceeded on his way, and at Toronto he changed the route for Myrtle, from which place he went three miles by foot, to Raglan, where he is at present, visiting his sister, Mrs. J. J. Ormiston, who is also a deaf-mute, as is her husband. "Sandy" intends staying there for several weeks, and then proceeding to his old homestead, near Ottawa. He may drop a visit to the Belleville Institution on his way to the capital of Canada.

Alexander informed the writer that there were three uneducated deaf-mute girls in Charing Cross, two of whom are over sixteen years of age and the third is not yet of school age. These two older girls should have been sent to the Belleville School, but for some reason or other they have been kept in total ignorance by their parents. This is a case for the Belleville School officers to inquire about them.

Alexander also said that when he was in Chatham one day, he visited Willie Liddy and Joe. R. Cook at the Planet office, and Dan Gorman in one of the saw mills.

Mr. Robert McLagan made fourteen entries in the fruit department of the Stratford Exhibition on October 2d and 3d, and succeeded in catching five first and four second prizes—the usual record of prize winning for a great many years. During the fair he could be seen talking with his interested friends in criticising some certain entries in the fruit class. Of course, he is an expert in judging all kinds of fruit, having, on several occasions, the honor of being the judge of this class and the flower and plant department, when he was not one of the exhibitors.

Nearly all the deaf-mutes from the surrounding country visited the fair, and I had a pleasant chat with some of them.

James Duncan, of Stratford, would like to play a game of checkers by correspondence with any deaf-mute either in Canada or the United States, who understand that method of playing and does not consider the postage expenses.

The mutes of Toronto are rejoicing at having their popular friend, Robert C. Slater, once more among them. But Robert should also deserve some pity for his desperate struggle of making both ends meet out of his job printing business in the backwoods of Clifford, and for the fact that another printer started a newspaper and job printing office in that place recently, which has proved a death blow to "Poor Rob's" business, hence his return to Toronto.

The deaf-mute population of Berlin has been increased by two—Arthur Hollis, from Galt, and Louis Kochler, from Wellesley. Mr. Hollis got "sacked" from his printing office in Galt, because he has been absent from his case quite frequently during the past summer—playing with the Galt Baseball Club. On coming to Berlin, he struck a job on the Daily News office, where he is working at present. He seems to like his present position better, for he comes amongst the many mutes of that town. But he may be in danger again of losing his place, when he is induced to join in football playing, being adept in this kicking faction—in fact he is excellent at all kinds of athletic sports.

Louis Kochler works in one of the shoe factories in company with Henry Gottlieb, and his occupation is to make lasts.

A. S. Waggoner plays with the Berlin Football Rangers this fall in the league matches. He is one of the best players of that club.

In a few days Henry Gottlieb and his wife, nee Lena Plate, are to move to Berlin from Bridgeport, three miles distant. Hitherto he has walked to his business place, and returning morning and evening with his dinner pail swinging by his side, and has nearly walked off his legs. To ease his tired feet, he will live in Berlin near his work-shop.

TIDINGS.

NEWBURGH, N. Y.

It may be a great surprise to the many deaf-mutes who are well acquainted with Mr. S. Winne, of Kingston, that he was married to Miss Carrie Dixon, of Jersey City, on the 10th of May, 1890, and is at present working for her uncle in Jersey. We all wish him and his bride joy and happiness, along with heavenly blessings.

Messrs. C. D. Edmonston and Henry Davit, former classmates of Mr. A. L. Thomas, send their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thomas upon their recent marriage. They earnestly wish that happiness may ever be their lot, and may joy and pleasure light the spot that may be home to them.

Mr. Gibson McConnell, of Poughkeepsie, was in this hilly city, looking for a job in some of the leading newspaper printing houses, but so far he has failed.

Mrs. Carrie Edmonston, the mother of Mr. C. D. and Miss Sarah Edmonston, has recovered from a dangerous illness.

Mr. Charles Woodin, who was married to Miss Mary Odgen, of Poughkeepsie, a few years ago, was in town calling on friends. He is uneducated, and is a cooper by trade. They are living comfortably, and have a very bright boy three years old.

Mr. W. Terbush came all the way from Danbury, Conn., to pay his aged parents a two-week visit, last August, and took advantage of the opportunity to go to Iona Island on the 27th of August, to meet old friends. He reports business at the hat factories in Danbury, Conn., good and pushing.

One Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Edmonston, of Cornwall, took a walk to New Windsor to see the aged mother of Mrs. Edmonston,. It brought Mrs. Edmonston many pleasant recollections of her girlhood, especially pleasanter thoughts of her former courtship with Mr. P. W. Edmonston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dobbs spent three days at Fishkill, at an uncle of Mr. John Dobbs'

One Sunday, lately, Mr. D. Sullivan and Miss Annie Ryan, of New York, dropped upon us suddenly, when the most desirable person, Artist Sullivan wanted to see happened to have gone out of town, and in the afternoon, he induced Misses Ryan and Edmonston and Mr. C. D. Edmonston to walk five miles to Cornwall. The next morning found them all limping around with stiff limbs.

Mr. Henry Davit spent Sunday in Rondout, visiting his folks. The next morning he was homesick, "poor boy."

Mr. C. D. Edmonston is getting to be a great traveller. He spent one day in Peekskill, and walked five miles to Cornwall, and lost his spectacles on the way there. On Wednesday, the 22d of October, he went up to Kingston to see the grand parade of the soldiers, and the unveiling and dedication of the monument to the soldiers and sailors of Ulster County. There he had the pleasure of meeting Mr. George Walker and Mr. Irwin, and he left for home at eight P. M., but was delayed at Milton till one P.M. An accident happened to the train.

The marriage of Mr. Edward Wygant to Miss Martha Hamilton was a great surprise to the deaf-mutes of Newburgh, for it was thought that the wedding was to take place some time in December.

Miss Belle Brown recently attended a ball, and reports having had a splendid time. She was considered to be the belle of the evening.

Miss May A. Riley says she had a good time in Brooklyn, and that the deaf-mutes there were very sociable, but she thinks she never will set foot in Brooklyn again. She has had enough of it, for it has shaken her all up.

Inquiries concerning the whereabouts of individuals, will be charged for at the price of ten cents a line.

THE Chicago deaf-mutes, with commendable persistency, have at last succeeded in uniting the different clubs into one society, which will be known as the "Pas-a-Pas Union." A membership of fifty-five is claimed, and if all who ought to do so would become affiliated, over one hundred names of active members would be upon the roll. The announcement that they will secure rooms and entertain visitors to the World's Fair, although commendable so far as the spirit of hospitality is concerned, seems rather too sweeping an invitation. But this may be an oversight. We presume our Chicago brethren will use discretion, and not open their rooms to the shiftless class that may drift thither with the horde of other visitors to the great Fair. We refer to that small class who travel on either a "tie pass" or in a freight car.

Also it would be wise to encourage deaf-mute societies in other cities by special invitation to members, sent by the secretary to such societies or officially published in the JOURNAL. There is a certain class of deaf-mutes that stands aloof and throws cold water on the efforts of earnest deaf-mutes to improve through the aid of literary societies. This class is too self-sufficient to be taught anything by taking part in debates or witnessing lectures given for the general improvement of all, and should be sat down upon when opportunity offers. We have strong faith in the advantages of associations, whether for social or literary purposes, and firmly believe that those who cannot learn from others, at least might give others an opportunity to learn from them. No one who is not a member of some society or association should be extended the courtesy of the Chicago Union. We except, of course, those whose business connections prevent, and others who reside in communities where there are no deaf-mute societies. We hope our Chicago brethren will build up a great society of the intelligent and respectable deaf-mutes, and that those who attend the World's Fair will enjoy meeting the members of the Pas-a-Pas Union without abussing its hospitality or expecting too much from its members.

A CORRESPONDENT to a paper published in Toledo, Ohio, makes several unwarranted and unjust statements concerning the Principal of the Ohio Institution. One of the complaints made is that an examination must be passed before an appointment as teacher can be made. We believe that any one of intelligence will see nothing to criticise and everything to praise in such a rule, and the result will be that ability, not favor, will be the essential qualification of every new appointee. Mr. Patterson is accused of any number of ambitious designs in the past, and the whole tenor of the article makes it appear a crime for a deaf man to endeavor to progress.

THE Missouri Record is correct in the presumption that the JOURNAL considered the letter of Prof. Knapp in the Baltimore Sun too absurd to require criticism. We published it to show the public to what extent some people will go in attempting to serve their own interests. This time Prof. Knapp's eagerness got the better of his discretion.

LAST week, we postponed Dr. Fay's marriage record, in order to get in regular deaf-mute news. This week, in publishing it we are obliged to keep over five or six columns of correspondence. We hope those who have sent articles will have the same patience as the editor, and excuse the unavoidable delay.

ITEMIZER.

The idea is to gather into this column items that relate to deaf-mutes personally, or to institutions for the benefit of deaf-mutes. We hope our friends and readers will keep us supplied with items for this column. Mark items to be sent: The Itemizer.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. I. Lounsbury's address is 231 East 58th Street, New York City.

Miss Annie Gates, of Fitchburg, Mass., is in Clinton, Mass., on a three weeks' visit to her relatives.

Miss Mary Boucher, of Fitchburg, Mass., has two deaf and dumb brothers working in the Orswell Mill.

Miss Mary Weyant, of Stony Point, N. Y., is visiting her aunt in Kinderhook, Columbia Co., N. Y.

Miss Belle C. Flagg has visited her friends in Lowell, Winchedon, Chelmsford, during the past month. She had a splendid time.

Wm. F. Coghlan, of Fitchburg, Mass., shot eighteen gray squirrels and two large coons, on the Wachusett Mountain, last Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Romeyn, of Albany, who have been visiting relations in Glenville, N. Y., returned to Albany to their home last week.

Next Sunday morning, Mr. Jonathan Marsh will address the Boston Deaf-Mute Society. He is the oldest deaf-mute in Boston. All are welcome.

Major George H. Meade, one of the Board of Directors of the Arkansas Deaf-Mute Institution, died very suddenly on the 18th inst. Several of the officers and teachers attended the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Romeyn returned to Amsterdam, N. Y., on the 5th of this month, from an enjoyable visit to their mother, Mrs. Agnes Romeyn, in Glenville, N. Y. They are the brothers of Miss Jane Ann Romeyn, a deaf-mute.

The Lynn Society, which has been ir regularly holding meetings for religious worship during the past nine years, re-opened for the season the first Sunday in September, with the aid of Mr. A. W. Orcutt, who upon invitation from Rev. Mr. Rowe, goes there every Sunday to teach the Sunday School lessons. The average attendance for a city with about thirty deaf-mutes is encouraging.

Her Regard for Propriety.

A gentleman on a 'cycling tour stayed a night at a prim old lady's cottage, the inns being full. He was very deaf, and took care to impress the fact on his hostess, with instructions that some one must enter his room to wake him at a particular time in the morning. Waking of himself some time later, he found that the old lady, with a creditable regard to propriety, had slipped under his door a note inscribed:—

"Sir, it is half-past seven!"—London Tid Bits.

CHARLES STARK NEWELL.

NEWELL—At Goshen, Orange County, N. Y., on Monday, October 27, 1890. Charles Stark Newell, a great-great-grandson of General John Stark, in his 47th year.

The announcement of the death of Mr. Newell, though expected for some time, was received with sincere sorrow by a large circle of deaf-mutes among whom he has been, for many years, a prominent figure. For some time he had been confined to his room with Bright's Disease, and his condition was considered as serious, but hope was still felt that he would recover. The end came peacefully.

Charles Stark Newell was born in New York City, in 1843, being a lineal descendant of General John Stark, of revolutionary fame. At the age of ten months, he became deaf from inflammation of the brain, the result of teething. At about the age of twelve, he became a pupil at Bartlett's School for the Deaf, and in September, 1857, entered the New York Institution. Here he passed a very successful career as a pupil, graduating from the High Class in June, 1864, with the highest honor—the valedictorian of the year and the recipient of the gold medal for excellence in all studies. The following September he became a teacher in the Institution and filled that position for ten years, finally retiring, in 1874, to accept a position in the New York Post Office.

While a teacher at the Institution, Mr. Newell met and married his wife, Miss Mary L. Goodrich, also a graduate of the High Class, a daughter of Dr. Charles S. Goodrich, for many years United States Consul at Lyons, France. During the latter years of his life, Mr. Newell had been in partnership with Mr. Henry J. Haight, and manifested excellent business ability.

His funeral took place from St. Ann's Church for Deaf-Mutes to-day, where services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Gallaudet before a large congregation of relatives and friends of the deceased. The remains were taken to Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass., for interment.

Correction.

The writer wishes to correct a mistake, which appeared in Laurentius' article published in the JOURNAL of October 23d, that "my lecture was on 'Cremation,' as I explained how bodies were burnt and buried, which horrified the ladies so much that they turned their heads" to my lecture. But it is not for the ladies. After my lecture the ladies said my lecture was very good.

Laurentius would greatly oblige me by correcting the report.

Yours truly,
EDWARD DURAN.

COLLEGE CHRONICLE.

A Foot-Ball Game Broken up.

HAPPENINGS OF A WEEK.

(From our Washington Correspondent.)

Foot-ball talk and work has taken up the principal part of the spare time of the students during the past week. On Tuesday afternoon the Georgetown team came over to try conclusions with the Kendalls. The visiting eleven was not so heavy as the one we contended against last January, and comprised quite a number of new men. But McCoy was on the team, and this fact is responsible for the outcome of the game. Wilson, of Georgetown, and Lindsey Denison, of Kendall Green, were respectively referee and umpire. Georgetown won the toss and took the ball, putting it in play with a V, which resulted in almost no gain whatever. The visitors then tried their halves around the ends, but lost ground by this, and the ball went to the Kendalls on four downs. Taylor at once made an advance of ten yards around the end, but on attempting to send the end-rush with the ball, it was fumbled and in the scuffle that ensued one of the Georgetown halves secured the ball and got clear away for the Kendall's goal, passing the full-back with ease. A goal was kicked from this touch-down, resulting in six points for the visitors. The ball was put in play from the centre by the Kendalls, being passed back and advanced about ten yards, but no further advance made in four downs, it went to Georgetown. At this stage of the game McCoy's temper began, controlling his judgment, and frequent disputes occurred between him and Taylor. The first attempt to advance the ball by Georgetown resulted in a fumble similar to that made by the Kendalls a short time before, and Wagner, K. S., seized the ball, and, by the fine interfering of the Kendalls, secured a touch-down some distance from the goal-posts. More jawing from McCoy interfered with the game. Try at goal failed. Score, 6—4. Ball was brought out to twenty-five yard line, and McCoy kicked a grounder, which advanced the ball about ten yards and gave it to Kendall. After lining up for scrimmage, the ball was passed back to Taylor, who broke through the lines, but was seized around the neck by McCoy and finally dragged down, after carrying the latter in that position. Every one saw this tackle, and even the captain of Georgetown's team made no objection to the claim for false tackle until McCoy had made himself weary with his mouth. The umpire insisted on his decision, and the ball was brought twenty-five yards forward. The visitors refused to continue the game, and forfeited it by default. The superiority of the Kendalls' play was very manifest in the repeated advances they made and the tackling, which gave Georgetown no chance to advance. Neither touch-down was made by adroit playing, but through accident, so that judgment of strength depends on the field playing. The visiting team, with the exception of McCoy, accepted the Kendalls' invitation to take supper with them, and a very friendly parting resulted. Another game was arranged for Saturday, but as four of our players were injured in practice games during the week, it had to be postponed.

The K. P. C. held its second "seance" Friday night, this time with "Joe" as host. One new member was admitted in the person of "Revival," of the Dakota Advocate, and considerable business pertaining to the more complete organization of the club was transacted, resulting in the selection of "W. B." as presiding officer and "Wit" as recorder. The thanks of the club were extended to Smith, '83, editor of the Companion, for favoring the K. P. C. with a free copy of his paper. It is desired to keep a club file of papers having college correspondents in the club, and courtesy similar to that extended by the editor of the Companion will be greatly appreciated. The Companion also made editorial mention of the formation of the club. The remainder of the evening was passed in story-telling and cards, and "Joe" proved himself an excellent host, providing an abundance of good things for the inner man, which college correspondents, above all others, know how to appreciate. The success of the club is assured.

The request of "'82," in the last issue of the JOURNAL is easily complied with. The bill for rescinding the harmful passage in last year's amendment, as well as the appropriation bill for this year, passed both houses of Congress, and are, we believe, now laws. The same provision will be made in the future for deserving students that has been in the past, and "'82" should use his influence and raise our number to one hundred.

The first instalment of new books for the "Lit" has arrived. It contains: "A little Journey in the World," Warner; "The Stillwater Tragedy," Aldrich; "Manners and Social Usages," Mrs. Sherwood; "Zoroaster," Crawford; "Two Little Confederates," Payne; "Heritage of Dedlow Marsh," Harte; "The Prince and the Pauper," Twain; "Story of Keedon's Bluff," Craddock. The remaining books ordered will arrive in a few days.

The gymnasium will be opened for the season, Monday. Adams, '86, has been appointed instructor, and will perform his duties as such without resigning his place at the Smithsonian. The new gymnasium uniforms for the Duck class will be ordered this week.

Several of the students have received appeals from the political organizations of their States to come home and vote. How many will go cannot at present be ascertained.

A practice game of foot-ball will be played this afternoon with the Columbia Athletic Club's eleven.

Miss Luciana Chickering is teaching her brother's class, in the Wallack School, during the absence of the regular pedagogue.

There was an inter-class game of foot-ball Wednesday, between '93 and '93,, which resulted in 46 to 0 for the Sophs. This looks bad for the Ducks, but they should not let it discourage them in the sport.

A coon hunt is being talked up for next week. The animals are to be very plentiful this year, and the excitement of a midnight run through the woods has its charms.

Two new foot-balls have been provided for the team.

McIlvain, '93, has become the proud possessor of Prof Hotchkiss's "star." He will see several more before he learns to control his own.

The Saturday night club committee met Friday and organized as follows: Chairman, Beadell, '91; Secretary, Whilden, '92; Treasurer, Kirshner, '94. It was decided to open the season with a minstrel performance.

The views expressed editorially in the JOURNAL in commenting on the remarks we made concerning the Boston meeting, will we are convinced meet the approbation of every sensible deaf person, and unless we are very much mistaken in the man, we believe that Dr. Bell will, in case statistics disprove the theory he holds, be just as earnest in making amends for the statements he now believes to be true, as he has in supporting them.

Mr. Collins, of Middleburg, Vt., was a visitor at Chapel Sunday.

KANSAS NOTES.

Mrs. DES. Hall, of Neodesha, Kan., a most pleasant lady, whose acquaintance we had the pleasure of forming two years ago, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Louis Huff in Kansas City, Mo.

Miss Nina Hatcher, of Neodesha, is with Mr. and Mrs. John Smith in Kansas City. She has had a very pleasant time. She attended the wedding of her brother and acted as bridesmaid, which event occurred on the 20th, at White Church, about eight miles from Kansas City.

Charles Topf has been spending a week among the mutes of Kansas City.

Prof. Walker, of the Kansas Institute, was in Kansas City recently.

The father of Mrs. Frank Laughlin returned home from Chicago. He reports business very dull at his trade in that city.

John Laughlin is in La Cygne, Kan., where he has a contract for painting forty houses.

Madison Walker, a deaf-mute carpenter, was killed in St. Joseph, Mo., last week, by being run over by a hose-cart on its way to a fire.

Rev. Mr. Mann, of Cleveland, will preach at Grace Church in Kansas City on November 16th. A large delegation of Kansas mutes will go there and attend the services.

Mr. Ed. Campbell, teacher at the Colorado School, contemplates giving a lecture some time during the holiday season in Kansas City.

Louis Hecker left Erank Scott's employ three weeks ago, and is now a very horsey sport in Kansas City.

Typographical artist Edwards is still in Kansas City on the Times.

Robert Lines is at present enjoying the pleasure of a "lay off." Bobby still sighs for the farm, and wears an enormous broad-brimmed hat as a reminder of his pleasant life there.

Rolly Baumgart came down to White Church to attend the Hatcher-Brougham wedding. He reports his wheat in splendid condition.

One of the happiest of deaf-mute weddings that has ever occurred in Kansas, took place on the 20th of October at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. Brougham, at White Church. The contracting parties were Mr. Edwin Hatcher, of Neodesha, who is so well known to all the mutes of Kansas, and Miss Lizzie Brougham, a more pleasant young lady than whom has never added lustre and sunshine to the pleasant land of Kansas, and whose smile forces a return from the most cynical of lips. Their courtship dates back to when they first met at the Kansas School, and has been a tale of love and mutual affection. For a week previous, preparations were busily under way for the event, and so well was everything done that nothing marred the pleasure of the occasion. The guests began to arrive Sunday, and Monday evening the house has filled to overflowing with a throng of light-hearted well-wishers to the young couple. Mutes were present from Kansas City and Kansas to a good number, the ladies being costumed in elegant style. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 by the Rev. Duning of the Christian Church, of Kansas City, the ring service being used. A handsomer and happier couple never stood up to take the holy vows of marriage, was the thought of all. After the ceremony a magnificent marriage feast was spread to the two hundred guests assembled, a beautiful bride's cake forming the outer piece of the table. The menu consisted of all the delicacies of the season, a proof our memory is not sufficient to write it out. Among the mutes present were the Misses Hatcher, Strickler and Thomas, Messrs. Robt. Lines, Frank Patterson, Rolly Baumgart, Frank Smith and Chas. Topf; Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Root and others. Miss Nina Hatcher acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Chas. Topf as best man. The presents were many and costly, aud testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held by their countless friends, and occupied a large space of the room. The gifts and donors were: Fruit stand and silver tea spoons, Mr. W. M. Calvin and wife; glass water set; Miss Minnie Strickler and Miss Maud Thomas; pair vases, Miss Nina Hatcher; silver napkin rings, W. H. McCanish; silver napkin ring, Frank Patterson; fruit dish, Miss Emma Kline; glass tea set, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kline; glass cake stand, Mr. and Mrs. Dudrich; violet plush looking glass, Wm. R. Baumgart; silver cake basket, Chas. Topf and Henry Sickel; book of poems vellum bound, Ida and Louisa Hartman; set of silver knives, forks, teaspoons, Mrs. T. H. Broughham; silver butter knife and sugar shell, G. W. McCanish, silver napkin rings, Alta Bigham; pair vases, Miss Katie Galvin; velvet toilet case, Mr. J. J. Collins; glass water set, Mr. and Miss O'Donnell; one dozen napkins, Mrs. Thorne; tablecloth, Mrs. Dustin; one dozen napkins, Gertie Duster; a complete dinner set, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Miss Nina Hatcher; splasher, Minnie Brougham; oil painting, Miss Kate Van Velzer; silver butter castor, Mr. W. H. Green and wife and Mr. W. W. English and wife; silver pickle castor, Mr. M. J. Bigham; silver cake basket, Mr. E. N. Dunning; orange basket, Sarah Keller; glass tea set, Frank Smith; set silver teaspoons, Miss Katie McMahon; set tablespoons, tiller pitcher, chair study, Mrs. Thome; glass tea set, Ella Elkins. The party did not break up until a late hour, and all vied in observing congratulations upon the bride and groom. They will make their future home in Neodesha, where the groom is engaged in devising inventions for the increased speed of bicycles. He now holds three patents, and contemplates engaging in their manufacture in Boston next year. May success and happiness be theirs throughout a long and joyous life, is the wish of all.

CHOX TOZZ.

Western Kansas.

Mr. Paul Lander and his youngest brother, John, secured a position in the Paolo apple factory this month.

Miss DeMotte, of Indiana, arrived at Harper, the first of last week, to take charge of the music department of the college. She is the daughter of Dr. W. H. DeMotte, who was a former Kansas Superintendent.

Miss Luella Stiffler, who graduated from the Kansas Institution this year has secured a situation as teacher at Salt Lake, Utah. We wish her success.

The writer went to Kansas City to attend the parade of the Priests of Pallas, two weeks ago, accompanied by her mother, and some popular ladies, and also we spent a pleasant day with our married sister there. We had an enjoyable time.

Your readers will be pleased to know that Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lott, nee Miss Dickens, both former pupils of the Iowa School, are doing very well at home in Fontana, about eleven miles from Paolo. They have four bright children, three of whom are married.

Mr. Wm. Payne is an intelligent young semi-mute, who graduated at the Texas Institution. His permanent home is at La Cygne.

John W. Johnson, former resident of Somerset, but recently of Peoria, had been shaking hands with his hearing and dumb friends here. John was some years a pupil at the Iowa school. He is poorly educated; but a very industrious young farmer.

Miami County has about seven mutes. Among them are Messrs. Harry, John and Paul, Lander, their sister Miss Bessie, Miss Laura Messmore and the writer.

Mrs. Ellen Coffman, aged sixty-seven years, died at her home in Paola, August 11th, and was buried Tuesday, August 12th. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Thornton in his usual impressive manner. Through misfortune, the family is in adverse circumstances, caused by the deceased's husband having become security for a friend who proved unworthy. A fortune of $25,000 was thus swept away, leaving the family impoverished. This should serve as a warning to many, who, in their kindly efforts to assist a friend, forget the duty they owe to themselves and their family. The deceased had a semi-mute son who has never gone to any school for the deaf. He is married. His residence is at Paola, in the western part of the town.

Miss Emma Hatch, formerly a pupil at the Kansas Institution, but now of Topeka, is working for her aunt.

The writer spent one pleasant afternoon, last week, with the family of Laura Messmore, who left the Kansas Institution in 1879.

PAOLA, KAN., Oct 20. HAYWOOD.

CHICAGO.

"The Pas-a-Pas Union."

A NEW ORGANIZATION.

Mass meetings of the Chicago deaf-mutes met at St. James's Church three times for the purpose of the organization of a society. At the first meeting, Mr. Oscar Regensburg was elected temporary Chairman, Mr. Edward D. Hunter, temporary Secretary. On motion, Mr. G. Christenson was elected temporary Treasurer. Messrs. Dougherty, Weller, Cotton, Codman and Regensburg were appointed as a committee to draft a Constitution and By-Laws. At the second meeting, the Constitution and By-Laws were read, and it was favorably agreed upon, except the name of the organization, "The Pas-a-Pas Union of Chicago." In putting the question, "Shall the Pas-a-Pas Union stand as part of the Constitution?" Messrs. Dougherty, Regensburg and other peacemakers favored a unity of two societies here, and thought the name was suitable, and it could draw more members by that name. The Pas-a-Pas Club objected to it very strongly, because it wanted to stand by its own old name, while the Chicago Deaf-Mute Society opposed the "Pas-a-Pas Union," for it wanted another new name. In fact they voted together against it. On a motion to vote, it was lost by 25 to 15. The 15 defeated voters were mostly non-members of both societies, called the third party. The defeat was a victory, especially to the Pas-a-Pas Club and Society, but death to the third party, because the latter was afraid that we could never unite into one society for the sake of harmony. A friend of the Pas-a-Pas Club at once moved that the Pas-a-Pas Club be introduced in the place of the "Pas-a-Pas Union." But as it was getting too late to do any further business, the question was laid on the table by a motion. At the third meeting motion was made that the matter that had laid on the table be called up, but afterward it was withdrawn under advisement. It was moved that the question of the name, which had been decided in the negative at the last meeting be considered. It was carried. After a gentle debate and more understanding was explained, the name, "The Pas-a-Pas Union of Chicago" was carried with three cheers and a tiger without any opposition. It was a great victory to all the mutes of Chicago. A truce has been formed at last. Mr. Christenson moved that the Constitution and By-Laws be ratified. Carried. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year. Mr. George T. Dougherty, President, by acclamation; Mr. C. C. Colby, Vice-President, by acclamation; Mr. Oscar Regensburg, Secretary, by acclamation; Mr. Gustavus Christenson, Treasurer, by a majority of fifteen votes. Mr. William White was elected Sergeant-at-Arms. This organization promises to be very strong, and it will have no trouble in getting a room in the heart of Chicago in a little while. They are now prepared for the World's Fair. Hence the mutes from all parts of the world will find a comfortable home at our headquarters. The Secretary has now fifty-five names on the roll call, and after securing a room, more members will step in. Probably this is the largest organization in the United States. Its object is to improve the intellectual and social welfare. Its business meetings are held every first Saturday evening of each month. St. James' Church is its temporary place to meet.

The other day a deaf-mute, Mr. August Hencel, was introduced in Judge Woodman's court as a witness. A lawyer, who did not know whether potatoes were growing on the trees or in the ground, objected to his testimony because he was deaf and dumb. However the court allowed him to tell what he saw. The Chicago Herald wrote the following in its editorial column on his testimony:

DEAF-MUTES AS WITNESSES.

While a national convention of instructors of deaf-mutes is in session in an eastern city, showing the marvelous progress that has been made in the teaching of these unfortunates, a Chicago lawyer, lamentably ignorant, undertakes to prevent one of the deaf-mutes of this city from giving testimony in court, the reason urged being that it would be absurd to admit as evidence the averment of a person who could "say nothing."

The truth is that deaf-mutes are among the most competent of witnesses when the eye is the chief organ of observation and record. Nature has a marvelous method of compensation. She deprives a child of sight and she gives him exceptional hearing and touch. She deprives another of speech and she imparts to his eye more precise and comprehensive faculties than are inherent in the eyes of those who hear. The deaf-mutes generally possesses uncommon powers of sight and feeling. It is now centuries since the deaf-mute could truly be said not to "say anything." Deaf-mutism has almost ceased to be a misfortune. Thanks to the devoted teachers who have spent their lives in developing sign methods and mechanical articulation science, few deaf-mute are deprived of ample means to "say" anything they please. The convention of deaf-mute instructors held annually shows every year an increasing faith in the practicability of the articulation method, while the sign language will continue to be retained as a facile and copious aid in making explanations. The percentage of deaf-mutes unable to learn to speak is yearly growing less under more capable instruction.

Upon seeing in Rev. A. W. Mann's appointments in the JOURNAL that he would be in Chicago October 26th, at 2:30 P.M., and in Austin, 7:30 P.M., the same day, but the intelligent compositor placed Austin, a suburban town of Chicago, in Texas. Hey! Two hours' ride from Chicago to Texas! It must be an air ship. Nevertheless, we suppose great preparations in Texas are being made for Rev. Mann's coming.

Hello! Rome correspondent, we candidly admit that your assumption as to the three yards for bedding is true. Because it is noted that the Chicago girls have big feet, and an extra a half yard is necessary to be used for that purpose.

Miss Maggie Jenks, a colored graduate of the Flint School, is seen with an apron and sleeves rolled up, bustling around in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Buchan. It is said she will stay with them permanently.

Mrs. Jas. E. Gallagher presented her husband with a bright-eyed little darling baby boy. Twelve pounds, September 24th.

Mrs. Frank F. Andrews has gone to live with Frank's parents to Ohio for good. She is to take care of Frank's mother for she is too old to do anything. Frank will stay at Pullman.

Matrimonial market is exceedingly dull for the mutes here owing to the high tariff.

Michalina Majiwski, a deaf and dumb Polish girl, 19 years of age, and an inmate of the Holy Family Orphan asylum, while attempting to get on the elevator recently fell down the shaft a distance of twenty-five feet, receiving injuries about the head from which she died. The coroner held an inquest and a verdict of accidental death was rendered.

The Theatrical papers say that it is proposed to erect a theatre in Paris for the deaf and dumb.

Mr. Wm. Gluckstin, from Michigan, is working at the basket works here.

Miss Effie A. Hitchcock is sewing cloaks for Field & Co here.

LOST IN A GREAT CITY.

With the word "Lost" written on a slip of paper which she held in her hand, a deaf and dumb young woman was found near the Union Depot yesterday by Officer Byrne of the Desplaines street Station. Her name, she wrote was Maggie Walsh, and she came from Bloomington, to see her brother, who lives at 277 West Adams street. The police on going to this number found that no one there knew any thing of the girl. On this being told to the young woman, she cried piteously. She wrote on a slip of paper, "I will go to work if I can get it, if not I hope I can reach my mother or sister. My mother is in Bloomington, my sister is in Wayne. It is terrible to be lost in this big city." When the unfortunate girl saw that she was again being brought to the police station, she evidently feared she was to be subject to punishment, and dashed away from the officer who accompanied her. No further attempt was made to assist the young woman in reaching her friends.—Chicago Herald.

MILLER POSED AS A MUTE.

Carl Miller was arrested last night for representing himself as a dumb man at several houses with a view to robbery. It is alleged that Miller has been breaking into houses, where he received aid for sometime. A note book was found upon him containing a number of addresses. One of these was 974 Clybourn avenue and on inquiry it was learned that the tenant, Mrs. Langner had complained to the police that her house had been broken into. Miller's treacherous memory had evidently compelled him to jot down the houses he visited in order to avoid mistakes. The police will invis egate the other addresses in the list to bring a conviction against Miller. The sham mute is locked up at the Sheffield Avenue Station.—Chicago Herald.

Judge Adams, father of A. F. Adams, now clerk at the National Museum, died in Dubuque, Iowa, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, of Philadelphia, who have been visiting Chicago since this summer, will return home on the third of November. Mr. Harrison has secured a position in Chicago, and will make the windy city their permanent home next Spring. They want to see the World's Fair.

Mr. Cullingworth's friends in Philadelphia will be glad to hear that he is doing well at his new home. He is one of the organizers of the Pas-a-Pas Union.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cotton have returned from their two weeks' trip to Green Bay, Wisconsin, recently. John's mother is now stopping at his house.

It is rumored that a deaf-mute paper is to be launched in Chicago in a little while.

Mrs. C. H. Roberts.
Miss V. B. Gallaudet.
Miss Myers.
Mrs. J. Mandeville.
Miss Rose Jerrett.

IT IS AMBIGUOUS.

The statement, "In Professors Zorbaugh and Watson the Kansas School has two first-class teachers," which was written by Charles Topf, or "Chox Tozz," and made public property through the medium of several papers, is ambiguous and needs correction. If the writer meant that Messrs. Zorbaugh and Watson are the only two first-class teachers in the school, he is mistaken, and doing a gross injustice to some other teachers in the said school, who are more experienced than the two, and are fully as capable. Let the public not be misled.

COLUMBUS.

No More Sliding on the Balustrades.

A NEW SOCIETY.

School Notes.

(From our Columbus Correspondent.)

There will be no more sliding down the banisters on the part of pupils from the dormitories to the next floor for a time at least. Since the accident to the pupil mentioned in last week's letter, the balustrades have been topped off with a series of wooden teeth or something like that of a saw, on which the pupil will find it difficult to slide. Warning has been given that pupils knocking, or attempting to knock off this preventative, will be punished in case of detection. There are strong hopes now of the injured pupil recovering, though most of the week his condition was such as to render his case extremely doubtful, being unconscious, and refusing to take medicine. His father left him Sunday evening, and has since been advised of his boy's condition daily, by the Superintendent. We visited the boy in the hospital to-day, and found him sitting up and able to converse with those around him. Complains of some pain in his head.

He is receiving the best of attention, and during our visit, Mrs. Knott, Mrs. Hartnett and the nurse were with him, and making things pleasant for him.

The special session of the Legislature, which has just closed, and a meeting of the Ohio Baptists in the city, caused many visitors to the institution during the week. In being shown through the class rooms, the visitors seemed to take a deep interest in the educational work being done, and comments of approval thereon were freely expressed.

On Wednesday evening, the Lieutenant Governor of Ohio, the Hon. W. V. Marquis, and several members of the Legislature, were at the institution and made the rounds of the study rooms and other places. They were not only satisfied, but highly pleased with the condition of everything they saw.

During the same day, Miss Owens, a sister of Mrs. Governor Campbell, and a friend Mrs. McElvee, of Hamilton, made a tour of the school rooms.

Thursday morning, Thos. Raher, Boxwell and Dr. Sterret, all members of the Lower House of the Legislature, and the latter who is also one of the members of our Board of Trustees, addressed the pupils after chapel service.

A new society has sprung into existence, and its membership is confined to the small boys only. It will be known as the "Ira Crandon Club," and its meetings will be held every week days except Saturday. Debates and story telling alternately will form the exercises. The membership fee is five cents a month, and the money thus raised will be used in the buying of books such as its members can readily comprehend. The meetings are held in the small room adjoining the boys' play room. The idea is not bad. It will furnish entertainment for the boys, and at the same time prepare them for greater usefulness when they are eligible for Clionia. Mr. Crandon is the patron of the club, and this being the case, the club's interests will be well looked after. Following are the officers: Bertie Noble, President; George Flick, Vice President; George Bath, Secretary; and H. Walker, Treasurer.

The proceeds from last Saturday's Clionia entertainment more than exceeded expectations. Including admissions and donations, the sum realized is $38.60. Pretty good for a starter, we should think.

On Monday morning last, two former West Virginia pupils were enrolled here as such. Their names are Annie and Laura Montgomery. The former is a member of the 5th Grammar Class. At present the latter, we believe, is in the 14th primary.

It is understood that Mr. Alfred L. Wood, late of the Cincinnati deaf-mute day school, has taken the place of the man who started recently the Toledo school. It is the opinion of well informed persons that the Toledo school can not exist long.

Though rather late in the season, the institution front grounds still present a remarkably fine appearance, one of the noteworthy attractions being the butter-fly and crow design on Fay Hill. One of the banana trees in the Russell has just yielded a fine lunch of bananas, but there wasn't enough however to go around so as to give all a taste of the fruit.

The Delineator, a fashion paper, for October, publishes a cut of the double-handed alphabet and accompanies it saith the following: "In fancy I see my little friends laughing merrily as they try to make the numerous signs contained in the queer alphabet which I bring to their notice this month. As you all doubtless know, these signs represent the twenty-six letters by means of which the deaf and dumb are enabled to converse; and those of you who patiently practise the different positions of the fingers until they have committed them thoroughly to memory, will find in this mute language a source not only of amusement, but of instruction as well, since they will in this way learn to spell correctly with rapidity and ease.

"The signs illustrated in the engraving belong to the double or two-hand alphabet, so called because all the letters but one require the use of both hands to make them. There is also a single or one-hand alphabet, which is more frequently used by mutes, because the letters can be made much more rapidly; but the two-hand is easier to learn and will answer every purpose.

"On rainy or chilly days, when outdoor amusements are imposible and you have tired of your different indoor games and books, you may pass the time away very pleasantly by conversing among yourselves by means of the sign language. Of course, mamma will wonder at first why her little boys and girls are so still, instead of romping in the nursey or play-room, and will fear that some mischief is brewing; but when she finds out how her pets are amusing themselves, she will very likely join in the game herself. When I was young we used to play a regular game with these letters. All the children would sit in a circle, and each in turn would make some remark on his or her fingers, and whoever spoke or laughed during the given time was fined a pin or some other small article agreed upon before the game commenced.

"But a better reason why my children should learn to express themselves easily by means of this alphabet is that they may thus be able to converse with those of their friends or acquaintances who are deaf and dumb. Remember, my dears, that the poor afflicted ones who are denied the pleasures of speech and hearing have far less to make life happy than you have; and it is your duty, if you can, to bestow some of your fun and lightheartedness to cheer them on their way. You all know at least one such person, I am sure, and if you say a few pleasant words to him in his own language every time you meet, you will be more than rapid for the trouble of learning by the evident pleasure you afford."

Last evening Mr. Wm. H. Zorn lectured before Clionia Society, having for his subject, "Frederick the Great," which he handled in a manner that made it very interesting for his audience. A vote of thanks was given the speaker by the society for his efforts.

At the Franklin County teachers' Association held yesterday in this city, Mr. C. N. Haskins, one of our teachers, delivered an address on Language Culture.

Circleville, Ohio.

It has been unusually quiet in the deaf-mute circles in these parts of the country, for quite a while. Hammel is no more, Forester sticks to where he belongs most of the time, Tug Ecord has been working on a new church that is in course of construction, over at Williamsport, and Wilson Stebelton has left the city to seek other fields, "pastures new."

Robin has been absent for a few weeks but returned in time to take in the Lancashire Fair, which took place on the 14th to 18th, and was a success so far as weather is concerned, except one day, Thursday, when it rained all day, and the grounds were almost as still as a church on week days.

We drove over to the Lancaster Fair, and had hardly reached our destination till we met Tug Ecord, of Williamsport, who had come up on the morning train. A friend there informed us that Jacob Miller and John Culp were also there, but we did not see them, on account of the swarming humanity.

We were favored with an interesting letter from one of Ohio's brilliant graduates, Otis Vance, a short time ago. He is for the present located at Ouray, Colorado, where he holds the responsible position of foreman in the office of the Ouray Plaindealer, a copy of which he sent us, and for which please accept thanks, Mr. Vance. His many friends here in Ohio, will be pleased to know that he is enjoying good health, and getting fat, while his wife and children are pictures of good health. We wish Mr. Vance and his family all the blessings this world can give.

We would like very much to give the readers of the JOURNAL a short sketch of the climate, scenery, etc., of Ouray and that far off country, as described by Otis Vance, but time will not permit at present.

COMMENTS ON THE BOSTON--BELL SYMPOSIUM.

Institution News.

While certain of deaf and some of their hearing friends are engaged in the attempt to refute certain theories which reflect unfavorably upon them and are endeavoring to educate the general public as to the true status of their class, it is very discouraging to see others undoing this work. Not intentionally perhaps, but doing it just the same. Thus the statistics complied by the Empire State Association, and to be found in a number of institution reports, (which have been noted in the columns of the JOURNAL and Silent World) as well as in the masterly paper of Prof. W. G. Jenkins on the subject of hereditary deafness, all show that cases of deaf children from deaf parents does not reach 1 per cent. Even the statistics to be found in Bell's Memoir, when subject to searching analysis, do not show as much. "He who runs may read" yet, at the late Boston meeting, we find Mr. Frisbee stating that 15 out of a hundred children of deaf parents, or 15 per cent. only, inherited deafness. If the gentleman named really made the statement (and to date it has not been corrected by him) he could not have realized its full meaning. Assuming his figures correct, it would made deaf intermarriages one of the greatest single sources of deafness, instead of being as it is, one of the least. As a matter of fact statistics from several states show that three fourths of one per cent. is more than sufficient to cover all cases from this source. Consequently, Mr. Frisbee's figures were twenty times too large. Even if he had intended it in for fifteen in a thousand, it would be double the actual number.

"W. B." in his College correspondence draws an altogether unwarranted conclusion from the remarks of of Mr. Bigelow at the same meeting. Commenting on his statement that "There are about a hundred couples in Boston and three fourths of them had children who had all of their faculties," "W. B.," says that this shows that the remainder of the hundred, or "25 per cent. of the marriages result in deaf-mute offspring." To draw such a conclusion from such an open statement only reveals a decided basis in favor of Bell's ideas, and against the opinion almost universally held by the more intelligent and self-respecting deaf. Mr. Bigelow does not say that 25 per cent. of the Boston marriages of the deaf produce deaf children, but as we understand it, that three fourths of these marriages were fruitful of hearing children and leaves it open to be inferred that the rest of the marriages produce no children either deaf or hearing.

All this shows the care that should be taken in making statements in this connection. Thoughtlessness makes the efforts of others who are laboring to elevate this class, like the fabled task of Sisyphus and his ever-rolling-back stone.

On Thursday evening, October 23d, the deaf-mutes in our vicinity were favored with Church services, at Zion Church, conducted by Mr. C. Orvis Dantzer, of Buffalo, N. Y. In spite of the heavy storm, an audience of nearly a hundred greeted the young Missionary upon his first appearance among us. All were very favorably impressed by his clear and earnest delivery and good presence. He stopped a few days among us visiting the Institution and making himself acquainted. He made as good an impression outside of the Church as in it, not only among members of his own denomination, but those of others, all of whom turned out to attend the service. He is only licensed as lay reader at present, but in the regular course of time will become a deacon. On Saturday, the 25th, he left to hold services in Utica on Sunday. Later he will visit Binghamton, Elmira, Auburn and Geneva, for the same purpose. It is to be hoped that the deaf-mutes in those cities will turn out in full numbers to meet him and show their appreciation of his efforts in their behalf. As we have said above, his rendering of the service is very fine, and the sermons he reads are very interesting and well delivered.

On Saturday afternoon last, a good number of our pupils attended the Opera House to see "Uncle Tom's Cabin" played. All came home delighted with what they had seen.

Our "Teachers' Meeting" was organized on Wednesday, October 22d, with Principal Nelson as Chairman, and J. H. Eddy as Secretary. It was decided to hold monthly meetings during the school year. The next meeting will be on the evening of November 10th, when Prof. Seliney will lead off by reading a paper on "The Relation of the Manual Alphabet to the Instruction of the Deaf."

The annual election of our "Lit," takes place Saturday evening, November 1st. Though there will be no "ballot reform" to work under, there may be an exciting time enough.

Last Saturday evening, the boys and girls enjoyed a social re-union in the big dining room, which was cleared for the occasion. A new and novel "clothes-pin game" was one of the features of the occasion.

We have lately heard from Watson D. Sheriff, for a time a pupil here, but now in California, Mo. He was married more than a gear ago, and lately became the father of a pair of twins, a boy and a girl, only one of which survives.

PHILADELPHIA.

At All Souls' Parish Hall, under the auspices of All Souls' Club, the following exercises were given:—Reading, by Mr. Wm. McKinney, of the news of the past week; a recitation on "Samson as a Slave," by Miss Egner; a historical sketch of Eli Whitney, by Mr. H. E. Stevens; humorous sketches by Mr. Thos. Breen; a select reading on "The Rise of the Roman Republic," by Mr. R. M. Zeigler; and a poetical recitation on "Autumn," by Mrs. Reider.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Young returned from their honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., and Baltimore, Md., last week. On reaching home, they found the following presents, which were sent in during their absence:—A pair of porcelain fruit dishes, a miniature Baby McKee lamp, a handsome market basket, and an iron agate kettle, from Mrs. H. C. Shockley, mother of the groom; a white counterpane from Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Farman, of Chester, Pa.; a dozen napkins and a table cloth, from Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bowers, of Lancaster, Pa.; a dozen silver tablespoons, from Miss Fannie Bowers; a silver butter-dish and a butter-knife, from Mr. and Mrs. A. Witmeyer, of Manheim, Pa.; a half dozen linen towels, from Mr. F. G. Super, of Baltimore, Md; six fancy-colored fruit-plates, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Amoss, of Baltimore; a dozen linen napkins, Miss Maria L. Hess, of Lancaster, Pa.; a glass dessert set, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cunningham; a glass butter-dish, three bone-plates and a dozen napkins, Miss Anna E. Leedom; a tablecloth, Mr. Geo. Slifer; a damask tablecloth and a glass dish, Mr. and Mrs. W. Houston; a pair of gilt-framed bird pictures, Mr. and Mrs. J. Welty, of Washington, D.C.; a dozen silver spoons, Miss Lydia K. Denlinger, of Lancaster, Pa.; and a $2.50 gold coin from some one unknown.

Misses Edna Stevenson, niece of the bride, and Anna Houston, who wore white dresses, were the assistant bridesmaids of honor at the wedding ceremony of Mr. and Mrs. Young.

From some good authority, Mr. C. B. Stilwell, our well-known artist, and Miss Lousie O'Donnell, who recently graduated from the oral branch of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf, will be bound in wedlock at the residence of the bride's aunt on Wednesday afternoon, October 29th. Rev. Mr. Koehler will officiate at the marriage ceremony. They have our congratulations and best wishes for a happy and long life.

At Frank's cafe, there is a large aquarium, in which several lovely fishes are swimming. This show is being put on exhibition in the window. Some of them resemble salmons in size, and they were very small when brought into the aquarium. Their chief food is clams.

Mr. W. F. Durian returned last Thursday morning from a visit to his family in Walden, N. Y., and friends in New York City.

Next Friday evening (Hallow Eve), there will be a "basket party," under the direction of the Pastoral Aid Society, for the benefit of All Souls' Church. Come, one and all, and help the church!

The chairman of the Council of the All Souls Club has appointed R. M. Zeigler, Miss K. Keen and Mr. Wm. McKinney as a committee to make arrangements for the purpose of celebrating the 25th anniversary of the birth of the Clerc Literary Association, on December 26th, being the birthday of Laurent Clerc, instead of September 22d, which is the official date of the organization of the society.

Mr. W. F. Durian has become a member of both the Apollo Club and All Souls' Club.

EXCEPTIONS.—Johnny Cumso—"I don't like Freddy Fangle. He talks too much out of his mouth.

An Infant Burning

WITH HER DEAF MOTHER NEAR AT HAND—SHOCKING DEATH OF A CHILD AT SPRINGFIELD.

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, October 19.—Anna, the three-year-old daughter of Robert H. Botley, the well-known florist of the Innisfallen Green House, was burned to a shapeless crisp, and perished after seven hours of awful agony, dying at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The child was an unusually intelligent and attractive one, and the pet of the neigborhood. At 8 o'clock this morning the mother was in the garden picking late beans, leaving the little one alone. The father was working in the conservatory, a short distance away.

No one knows how the child's clothing caught fire, but the mother's deafness prevented her hearing the baby's screams, and when she entered the house little Annie was a mass of flames. Her mother wrapped her in a blanket and a neighbor, being attracted by the mother's shrieks, rushed in and cut the clothes from the dying and disfigured child. Her face was burned to a crisp, and the front and back solidly baked. The little garters were solidly charred into the flesh and had to be literally dug out. The only place spared by the awful flames was about the neck and shoulders, and there was here a perfect v of white untouched flesh. The child had inhaled the flames also. Merciful death came at 3 o'clock. The rocking chair in which she sat was consumed.

Good Investments and Bad Investments.

MR. A. ACHESON'S PARTY.

Pencilings.

(From our Boston Correspondent)

No close attention could have been paid to any lecturer than President E. M. Gallaudet, Ph.D., LL.D., of the National Deaf-Mute College, who gave an instructive as well as interesting lecture in clear gesticulations in the Gallaudet Society rooms last Saturday evening, and again an interesting sermon on the next day.

Before he commenced his lecture on "Good Investments vs. Bad Investments," he gave a formal greeting in which he congratulated the Gallaudet Society on its success, praised its work and also thanked the Gallaudet Society for its name—after his father.

He began his lecture by defining the word "Investment," which he calls a peculiar charm to old and young. The young hopes for a competency to retire on, while the old thinks of what they can leave, especially to wife and children.

He condemned gambling, betting, lotteries, or other so-called business out of which one's gains come only from the losses of others. All such investments are bad.

The first good investment is the habit of thrift, which is natural to most young people.

He advised as to keep out of debt, and mentioned a few good investments in money, as follows:

1. A Life insurance policy, maturing at a certain age.
2. A deposit in savings bank.
3. A home.
4. Well-selected town or city lots.
5. Stocks that have an established value, not in gold mines or new and untried inventions. Avoid debts in investing.

Investments of more importance than those made with money, he classified as follows:

First, Good health, and to that end, have plenty of exercise, ventilation, food, regularity, and avoid all dissipations, such as drinks, tobacco and cigarettes.

Second, Good character. Be constant and steady in the practice of truth, honest dealing, purity, the golden rule which forbids slander, covetousness, quarrelling, hatred and all uncharitableness.

Third, He considered some natural science with a simple text-book as the best for mental culture, and also advised much care taken about newspapers.

Fourth, The best methods of social culture is to have as much intercourse with the hearing people as possible.

Fifth, Here comes the most interesting part of the lecture, it was about the development of the family in which he advised a good marriage. He neither favored nor opposed the intermarriage of the deaf en masse, but still he advised us to marry hearing partners, if we can on a basis of true love, but above all, whether both are deaf and dumb or not, the marriage should be happy, and to that end it must be based on real affection.

In concluding this part, he said that Prof. Bell was a true friend to the deaf, and has never had any thoughts of interfering with our happiness. His theory on a Deaf Variety of the Human Race has been misunderstood by the deaf of all over the country.

Sixth, and lastly, he mentioned investments more important than the others, which is "Practice of Charity," "Giving to the poor," "Lending to the Lord," and "Laying up treasure in Heaven," and lastly, he spoke of what he spent: he had what he kept, what he gave, was his forever.

The lecture lasted about one hour and a half, and during that time stillness reigned over the audience with frequent bursts of applause, which evidently showed that his lecture was appreciated very much.

At the close of the lecture, President E. W. Frisbee, of the Gallaudet Society, presented him a large bouquet of flowers in behalf of his ex-students of Boston. The doctor replied that his button-hole was too small to hold it, but his heart can hold it. The rose may be gone soon, but the fragrance will remain with him forever; and there was loud applause.

It was noticed that the audience was more represented by deaf-mute outsiders of Boston than the Bostonians. Among them was Mr. Crossman, who came down from one hundred miles to pay his respects to his first teacher, and the distinguished lecturer remembered his name well, and a hearty hand-shake followed.

Sunday morning the Boston deaf-mutes turned out in full force and attended the doctor's sermon. The subject was the "Inspiration of the Almighty."

The real work intended to be done at the M. & C. R. S. busy bee parties was begun at Mrs. Adam Achison's party last Thursday, when the lady members spent part of the afternoon in sewing articles of dress for the poor. About 6.30 the gentlemen members and non-members began to arrive, and by seven o'clock the parlor and dining-room were completely filled with a merry throng of fun-loving and joking mutes, Mr. and Mrs. Marsh, of Winsted, Conn., being among them. The real fun began at the table, where nearly all were continually laughing so that they could hardly eat. After supper was spent in telling stories and games—one game, a new one which many of us never heard of before, was played. It was called "Spider's Web." The company sit around in one room, while those chosen to wind the net-work are closeted in another room. Then the others make a web of string, twisting it around the necks, arms and feet of the person in the way and around chair legs and table legs several times, out through the hall in the next door around and around until it looks like a spider's web. When all is ready, the closeted ones are brought out and given the end of the string and told to unwind the web as far as their string will go, at the end they would find a prize. There were fun contestants in this game. Mrs. Blanchard, Mr. Abrams and Mr. and Mrs Sawyer. Mrs. Blanchard was first to wind up her web, and at the end she found a white paper in which she found the prize, a tiny doll. Mr. Abram was second, and found at the end a large potato completely done up in white paper. Mrs. Sawyer's prize was a piece of coal. Mr. Sawyer's was a doll whose hand reached to its heels. The party left on the 10.20 train for Boston, and kept up their merriment all the way.

The moving craze has struck the mute and families living around Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph, failing to find a suitable place in Chelsea, will move near the depot in South Weymouth for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer moved to 88 Addison Street, Chelsea, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Farley will move to Charlestown tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow will move to Washington Avenue, Chelsea, in about a week. Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard spoke of moving to Chelsea, but have not yet decided. Miss Emily Clarke moved too, and Mrs. Magee moved over a Chinese laundry, but she has to wash her own clothes all the same. The furniture movers will probably be well acquainted with deaf-mutes before long.

Mr. C. L. Washburn, of the Class of '90, National Deaf-Mute College, is here attending the Massachusetts Institution of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh will soon go to Chicago, to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Bowes.

Mr. James Wise, who has spent the last few Years in New York City, has returned home to Cambridge, and is now working with Mr. W. H. Lane in place of Mr. James F. Middlemas, who is at present seriously ill, and will be sent to the City Hospital.

Messrs. Sanders, of Haverhill, and Bowden, of Beverly, will drive all the way to West Randolph, Vt., a distance of 175 miles, in a week or so. Mr. Sanders contemplates going into the creamery business there.

George Wise, of Cambridge, in company of three Waltham mute friends, visited the Hoosac Tunnel last week.

AN EXPLANATION.

"W. B.," of the Deaf-Mute College informed in the last issue of the JOURNAL, that the statement of Mr. Bigelow, "that, of about a hundred deaf-mute couples in Boston, three-fourths have children in possession of their faculties," is still stronger in its support of Prof. Bell. I meant "that 25 per cent of the marriages result in deaf-mute offspring." I will explain how the statement resulted in my address. I I was somewhat indefinite, I confess, and should have made my meaning more clear. I do not blame Mr. Beadell for misunderstanding me. I meant to say that out of a hundred couples, three-fourths have children in possession of all their faculties, leaving one-fourth who have no children, who, except in two or three cases, are congenital. I agree with Mr. Hodgson in his editorial, that some might make errors in the effect of their arithmetical calculations in statistics; but I have found but two or three cases which are congenital effect in mute offspring, and besides, upon my collecting statistics for Dr. E. A. Fay, I found two congenital cases which have children who can speak.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

Charles M. McManus, of Newark, N. J., likes to work in Buffalo very much. He used to work at the Shea Music Hall, Wonderland Theatre, Genesee Hotel, and Denton and Cottier Piano Store. He went to Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge to see William Hallet last Sunday. Mr. Hallet is a good catcher and first-base man for the Dopolin Base Ball Club, of Suspension Bridge.

Fred. Willcox, of Detroit, Mich., is still working in the Brass Foundry in Buffalo. He will go to see his parents in two weeks.

Mr. Julius Hanneman intends to go to New York on January 28th, for the Fanwood Ball.

Messrs. Willcox, Manes and McManus went to Black Rock, about four miles from here, two Sundays ago.

Chas. McManus lives with William H. McDonald, who is of the firm of Little, McDonald & Co. He used to work for McManus' father, in a dry goods store, about nine years ago. He is much satisfied with him.

NEW YORK.

Some Rumors—Solid Facts—and a Paragraph for the F. A. A. A.

The German Club met at Germania Hall, on Avenue A., between Third and Fourth Streets, on the afternoon of October 4th. There was a good attendance present. The election of officers was the nature of the meeting. With much noise, and an unlimited flow of Bock and Rhine Wein, the following ticket was presented and elected: E. Werner, President; Herman Eschert, Vice-President; F. Schoenfeld, Secretary; and Little Charlie Haar, Overseer of the Treasury. Discussson followed the election, on the project of another, Christmas festival this winter. They decided in the affirmative, and in connection, there with a grand ball will follow. Messrs. Korngold and Seelig were admitted members at the meeting.

The committee chosen to revise several objectionable clauses in the Constitution and By-Laws of the Manhattan Literary Association, met for business last Saturday evening. They are Messrs. Froehlich, Godfrey, and S. M. Brown. The changes made, if approved by the association, will add very materially to the welfare of the organization.

Tom Harrihill loomed up one day last week, astride a Columbia "Safety." That makes the second of the six proposed members of the new bicycle club to be organized, who own a machine.

It may not be very long before Mr. Wm. H. Rose will lay down his "stick" and rule, to accept a lucrative position under Banker August Belmont. The Spirit of the Times will be sorry to lose him, but chances coming as this one does, are not to be passed by. Prospects are bright for Mr. Rose, and it is not impossible they will be brighter still.

How easily rumors gain ground among deaf-mutes, and how quickly they are given credence, is here illustrated. Not many months ago and been appeared stating Danny McBride was numbered among the might have beens. At time of writing, Dan McBride is resting after a very busy season, a farm in Fort Hamilton, on the Long Island store. His ruddy looks are far from inclining a person to think he had slept for any considerable time under mother earth.

John Dunlap, a brother of Edward, who was the hero of so many escapades while at Fanwood, is said to be a candidate for Assembly honor as in a South Brooklyn district. Edward has in mind joining the Adelphi Literary Union about the 1st of the new year.

W. F. Howell, at one time an overseer of the boys at the New York Institute, is residing in the vicinity of West 17th Street. He is employed as a carpenter in the down-town district. His brother, W. L., is expected this way in a week or two, with the intention of making New York his permanent home.

There was a big blaze in coffins a week ago. The manufacturing firm of Stolts & Co., wherein James P. Donohue is employed, lost several thousand dollars by a fire that occurred in their factory. The ware-rooms were not damaged to a great extent, however, and Mr. Donohue was not affected in any way by the fire.

Perhaps the Fanwood Amateur Athletic Association will see something in this. Mr. Jas. D. Shelton, who is modest in his claims, has ventured to express his willingness to meet the Hon. Wm. Slattery in a club-swinging contest.

August has been among the forgotten for two months now. A reliable source states something happened during that balmy month that will surprise the friends of the parties concerned. Miss M. Dixon, of New Jersey, was married to Mr. Solomon Winne, of Kingston, N. Y. The latter is not a stranger to former and present pupils at Fanwood, and Miss Dixon is known to a large circle of the mutes of the city.

MONTAGUE TIGG.

IN MEMORIAM.

At the Pittsburg Convention the Board of Managers of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf was instructed to prepare a series of resolutions on the untimely death of our late fellow worker, Rev. Henry Winter Syle. In accordance with these instructions, at a meeting of the Board held at all All Souls' Church for the Deaf, on Tuesday evening, October 7th, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our valued and honored fellow-member, the Rev. Henry Winter Syle; and

WHEREAS, In view of the fact that the deceased was the first President of the Society, and rendered valuable services in its behalf; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, in the death of the Rev. Henry Winter Syle we deplore the untimely termination of a life useful in all respects;

Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which he exercised in behalf of the Society by counsel and services, will be held in grateful remembrance;

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved family in their deep sorrow; and,

Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and also to The Silent World and the DEAF MUTES' JOURNAL for publication.

FANWOOD.

Our Athletic Association.

WILL THE GRADUATES PLAY?

Notes Here and There.

(From our Fanwood Correspondent.)

The members of the Athletic Association were somewhat startled, but by no means alarmed, to hear that early during the week a new athletic club had sprung up among the boys of the lower classes.

Last Tuesday a meeting was held in the rooms of the High Class boys, at which a full attendance was present. After the usual routine business, Secretary R. E. Maynard reported that Mr. Fred W. Meinken would offer a gold medal to be competed for at the annual games of the club. Mr. Meinken's offer was accepted with thanks.

Mr. Albert Ballin was admitted to honorary membership, and arrangements were perfected to make the football team as strong as any that have represented the school in the past.

The Committee on Athletics were instructed to settle upon a date for annual field day, and will in all probability choose Decoration Day as the convenient time, both for members and visiting athletes.

Since the above meeting, the proposed new club has given up the ghost, and now some are sorry that they allowed themselves to take such a step.

The regular football eleven are now in training, and play together as a team every Friday afternoon. Mr. Fox has been chosen captain and will play quarter back, and Tweed takes the left end, and Hamm the right, with Gately, a very reliable kicker, as full back. On Election Day the boys will be out and ready to meet all comers. If the graduates are not yet ready, a scrub team will probably form their opponents.

"Montague Tigg" should stir up some of his sporting blood, and see what the graduates can do towards getting up a foot-ball eleven to meet our team. We can promise him a crushing defeat beforehand.

The Harriers are daily training for the cross-country run, which is to come off on November 19th. The Fox Harriers think that they will be able to retain the banner which now hangs in their classroom. In the meantime, the Currier Harriers are daily training for the event.

The two silk flags which were won by Mr. Walter B. Peet's boys in a cross-country run, two years ago, now adorn the walls of the boys' study room.

James Powers thns far has beaten all his competitors in pole-vaulting. His record is nine feet.

Little Herman Lamm is the champion high kicker. He can kick as high as six feet nine inches.

We learn that Messrs. G. S. Porter and John H. Geary like their new positions at the Arkansas Institution. The latter has been taking lessons in shooting; not long since, he fired at some black pigs, mistaking them for game.

Mr. Alex. L. Pach, Easton's finest photographer, was up here last Thursday on business. He took up several orders for the late Teachers' Convention groups. We think that they can't be beat, and Mr. Pach is to be congratulated on his great success. The High Class Boys have purchased the whole set, and will soon hang them up in their study room. The other boys are thinking of doing the same, and may order them.

Three small boys were transferred to the main building from the Mansion House last week.

Mr. Wm. Coombs was at Niblo's to see "Claudius Nero," last Saturday. He says that nothing in the way of a spectacle production was ever before produced upon the stage. "The performance of the lions and dogs," he added, "was worth alone the price of admission."

Master John Edwin O'Brien, with his father and mother, attended the matinee at the new Park Theatre, and enjoyed Evan's and Hoey's "Parlor Match" to his heart's content.

Mr. Alex. Goldfogle called on Monday afternoon. Fifteen years ago, Alex. was a member of the High Class. He entered a first-class book and job office down town as an apprentice. If we are not mistaken, he remained in the same office for over eight years. He is now in the law office of Goldfogle & Cohn. The former gentleman, who is also a civil justice of this city, is his brother. We wish success to Alex., and hope that he will some day be able to step into his brother's shoes.

Mr. Unterwood was up here last Saturday to see how our foot-ball team were playing, but he was greatly disappointed because there was no game in progress at the time. Mr. Underwood, we understand, will probably be in the team composed of graduates who are to play our eleven.

Gertrude and Louise Turner, two little female pupils here, received a very pleasant call of their father and sister, Miss Bessie Turner, last Sunday afternoon.

The monthly social reunion last Saturday proved to be a most enjoyable affair to the small pupils, as well as the older ones. It took place as usual in the girls' sitting room.

It is reported that James Stratton, Jr., is dying at his home in the city.

Mr. Fox has had an attachment put on his electric bell, whereby he can tell when the bell is rung without hearing. He finds it a great convenience when the servant is out. The work is the invention of Mr. A. H. Kohlmetz, who has a good head for such work as well as being an expert sharp-shooter.

TROY.

THE LOSS TO TROY GAINED TO PARIS.—A DEAF-MUTE'S DOOM.

The first regular meeting of our society was held at its rooms on September 27th, the only business transacted being the installment of the newly-elected officers, and also the Committee on debates, lectures, etc., consisting of Mr. and Mrs. H. Burt and Jermiah Drum. The names of the officers are: J. L. Conners, President; Harrison Burt, Vice-President; Joseph S. Kenney, Secretary; J. C. Ritter, Treasurer, and Jeremiah Drum, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Mr. Harrison Burt delivered an interesting lecture on "Ore Mines" before the society on Saturday, October 11th. With but one hand, he is clearly understood by his friends and acquaintances. As a sign-maker, he is graceful and perfect, indeed. To those who for the first time see him talk on his one hand, he is a wonder, especially when he is engaged in a series of debates. Many years ago, Mr. Burt was employed in mines at "Ti," several miles distant from Crown Point, and while there, he met with a terrible accident caused by an explosion, by which he lost the sight of one eye, and also his right arm a little below elbow. He is working in Carter's shop, and has three children, each of whom are in possession of five full senses. In defense of their parents, they might do well to talk with Prof. Bell on the subject of intermarriage.

Messrs. Wm. T. Collins and C. Augustus Smith have been selected debators on the question, "Which is the most destructive to property, flood or cyclone?" Mr. Collins will shake his head, and Mr. Smith nod his on that question, next Saturdry, November 1st. All are welcome.

The Rev. Dr. Gallaudet, as has already been stated in the "Itemizer," lectured before our society on "Conscience," Saturday evening, October 18th. It was largely attended, as is always the case on such occasions, as if drawn from far and near by a magician as a magnet would draw a pin.

The next day the reverend gentleman held services at St. Paul's Church on Lancaster Street, Albany. Monday night following, he lectured before an audience of deaf-mutes at the Parish Building, which the Albany Deaf-Mute Association, now a thing of the past, like nations gone into a decadence after a short existence, once occupied.

After the lecture, Mr. C. Augustus Smith in a few words succeeded in inducing a re-organization of the society. They will discuss a proper plan of action, next Thursday evening, the 13th. Those who were present were Messrs. Sparrow, Carlman, Mull, Palmer, Wormer, Mr. and Mrs. Cutter, besides several ladies of that city; Messrs. Conners, Ritter, Drum, and Mr. and Mrs. Smith, of Troy; Solomon Cornelius, of New York, who is at present employed as a carver at Green Island, within a stone's throw of this city, on the opposite side of the Hudson, and a gentleman, whose name passed the writer's poor memory. He hailed from Amsterdam, N. Y.

Erastus Wilkins, said to be a deaf-mute, was killed by the steam cars Tuesday afternoon, the 21st inst. While the Delaware and Hudson train No 102, was leaving Saratoga at 12.45 o'clock and due in Waterford at 1·48, was rapidly rounding a curve midway between Mechanicville and Waterford, the engineer saw Wilkins walking on tha track only a short distance ahead. He did not seem to hear the train, and the whistle was caused to blow a long and shrill blast, but still the man walked on, paying no attention to the rapidly approaching train. The horror of the engineer better imagined than described, lasted only a few secouds and all was over with the poor deaf-mute. He was instantly killed. The inquest will be held on Tuesday next. $65 was found on Wilkin's person. I did not know him, nor did any of those I talked with over the matter, though Waterford, a little village is only 4 miles away up. Mr. and Mrs. Getting live there.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Burt celebrated their glass wedding on the 23d of September last. The Hon. John Brownel and wife of West Cambridge, scores of miles away over the hills, were among those present. Besides glass articles they had brought, they brought a wagon-load of potatoes, quantities of butter and other vegetables. Other glass articles were handsome and useful. A barrel of fun was immensely enjoyed.

A surprise party was held in honor of Master Andrew Keenan on the occasion of his birthday, Sept. 11th in Albany. The host was agreeably impressed. He is now pushing the school wheel for the cultivation of his mind at Rome, N. Y. As soon as he sets his foot on his home soil in June, it will take him the time of his vacation to enlighten the minds of the "fellers" in regards to the "strike" in Rome.

Mr. Paul Engle and Miss Weavers were united in matrimony. It was a private affair. The next day the report leaked out like a wild-fire, and surprised many persons. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Engle now reside in Berne some distance west of Albany.

Mr. Wormer's sister aged 15 years, was married to a young man of 18, whose position is that of a clerk, or something like it.

Mrs. James Cutter, nee Miss Kehn class '81, returned home in Albany from a few weeks sojourn abroad.

Mr. Thure Carlman went to hop picking for a few weeks, many miles away. He has just returned fresh and brown.

I was highly pleased with a large photograph of the excursionists (Gallaudet Home Excursion) just received. Mr. Pach is to be congratulated upon his fine work. Those if any, who participated in the excursion, but have not sent for one, should have it.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Burt with child, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cutter, Missess Maggie Murphy and May Henry, and Messrs. Bradshaw, T. Carlman, M. McLaughlin, J. S. Kenny and J. L. Conners, had their pictures taken in a group several weeks ago. Very well taken and nice they were.

Mr. J. L. Saxton has gone to Paris to remain four years to study art. His wife (a hearing and speaking lady formely of Maine) and Aunt accompanied him there. John's father is a wealthy flour merchant here.

A pleasant party was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Palmer some time ago. Those present were kept in a gale of laughter by the antics of Joseph S. Kenney who, as a clown and imitator, was perfect. By request, he made a "stump speech" on temperance.

Mr. George H. Palmer sent her daughter Annie to school at Albany, where Miss Black teaches lip-reading and speaking-speech. Miss Black used to be Principal of Some School somewhere in Rhode Island(?) and a former teacher of the Lexington Ave School New York. Mr. Palmer being dissatisfied after a month, decided to take Annie to the Lexington Ave school and there he was not satisfied because the only objection he had was that the bible was not taught there. So he took Annie to Fanwood where she is now.

The old friends of the members of the "Farmers' Club" may, by dropping in the Deaf-Mutes' Journal office, see their picture presented to the Editor during my recent visit. The members are, John R. Becker, John L. Conners, Wm. G. Shanks, Henry Held, Sam. Kee and John R. Becker's niece on horseback behind him. The west side wall is adorned with pictures sent there from some parts of this country.

Mr. Philip Sharkey in company of others was coming to Troy from Albany on a steam-boat one Sunday afternoon and had his hat blown off into the water. He took it coolly. How it happened he explains in this way: "He is very smart," and hurled the hat off and the rest you know. Philip had forgotten to tie an elastic string attached to his hat, about his neck.

Mr. Solomon Cornelius, who as has already been stated, has been employed at the famous Gilbert car works, where orders are received from many parts of this country, and other parts of the world, is said to be in New York, what called him thither is not known to the writer.

Any watch may be used like a compass. The matter is explained in this way: Point the hour-hand to the sun and South is exactly halfway between the hour and figure XII on the watch. For instance, suppose that it is four o'clock, point the hour-hand, indicating four, to the sun and II is exactly South. Suppose it is eight o'clock, point the hand, indicating eight, to the sun and X on the watch is due South. This is a good thing for woodsman and hunter to remember.

The writer has not forgotten the time, when he recently visited the scene of his school-life—boy-hood—at "Old Fanwood," New York, Brooklyn, Trenton, N. J., and other points of interest. He was royally entertained by the famous "Three Jims" and "Bird." He had "a long yarn to spin," before the audience and everybody wished he could go.

Mr. and Mrs. C. August Smith had their vacation of a few weeks, but they were late, but the writer thinks "it is better late than never."

Developer.

Mr. Douglas Explains.

Dear Editor:—The matter between me and the Proteans is this. They made arrangements with me to call and photograph them in a group, on 11x14 plate. When I called on the day appointed, after lugging along a large camera, and refusing other engagements for that day, they backed out. It was a breach of contract. Please correct the wrong statement about me, and oblige

Ranald Douglas.

What They Say of Them.

N. J. School for Deaf-Mutes, Trenton, Sept. 25, 1890.

My dear Mr. Pach:—Your convention photographs to fill orders from this school at hand. Whether by reason of your luck in securing undue "'vantage of the sun and wind," or whether it is due to your skill in manipulation, or perhaps to some magical incantation that you know—at any rate, and by whatever means, you have got the best group pictures that I have ever seen.

Very truly yours,
Weston Jenkins.

Alex. L. Pach, Esq.:

Dear Sir:—The Convention groups sent to Dr. A. Graham Bell have come to hand, and are pronounced by him "very good." Congratulating you on your success, I remain

Yours very truly,
John Hitz.

My note conveys to you congratulation on your good success in taking the photograph. * * * We all agree that it is excellent.

Yours truly,

Alex. L. Pach, Esq.
Easton, Pa.

My Dear Sir:—The photographs taken during the recent convention, came in good order, and it affords me pleasure to say that I think you succeeded admirably. Taken all in all, I don't think I ever saw a better photograph than that of the Principals and Superintendents, and the one of Mathison, Clark and myself can't be beaten.

Yours very truly,
W. O. Connor,
Principal.

Mr. A. L. Pach,
220 N. Third St., Easton, Penn.

Dear Sir:—The four groups reached me a day or two ago, and I must say I was very much pleased with them. They are the finest photographs of their sort I ever saw, and you are greatly to be congratulated upon turning out such perfect work under such trying circumstances.

Yours truly,
Francis D. Clarke,
Principal.
